

LABOR DENIED VOICE IN SHAPING WORK PARLEY

Hoover Turns Deaf Ear to Pleas of Trade Unions Seeking Representation.

By W. H. ATKINS
International News Service.
Labor will have no part in the preparation of the agenda of the conference on unemployment which will assemble here next Monday.

Secretary Hoover's announcement of the list of delegates and others who are serving in an advisory capacity disclosed that while there are five organized labor men among the thirty-eight delegates who have accepted invitations, there is no labor representation on the advisory economic council which will shape the course of the conference.

The council is to furnish the keynote for the conference. Its deliberations will be shaped very largely along the lines indicated by the data and charts compiled by this group of experts who are making a study of various fields of industry.

Despite labor's abstinence from the advisory council, its representation in the general conference is strong. Organized labor's five members will be able to exert a more potent influence than any other single group or industry.

Secretary Hoover, in his discussion of the personnel of the conference, said that the delegates had not been chosen because they were of a particular class or group. He said selections were on the basis that the delegates chosen would be "helpful" in reaching a solution of the unemployment problem.

Secretary Hoover said it was his desire to limit the size of the conference, and thereby make it an efficient working group. To do that, he said, he had to turn a deaf ear to appeals from hundreds of trade groups which sought representation.

BIG FIRE AT NINTH AND H

But It Failed to Arouse the Interest That a Big Trouser
Sale Did At Another Ninth Street Store.

It is seldom that anything beats a fire in arousing public excitement and curiosity—but a Friedlander trouser sale did this rather impossible feat yesterday.

Though Ninth street was the scene of a damaging fire—the crowds packing Friedlander Bros., at 428 Ninth street northwest, were too intent upon sharing in this great trouser sale to hear the clank of fire gongs, and the fire passed by unnoticed.

As with former Friedlander trouser events, the source of supply was Strauss Manufacturing Co., of Baltimore, Md. As for patients, and weaves—most every conceivable able one is included in this shipment. Those men with odd coats will welcome this sale with hands outstretched, for it affords them the opportunity to match their coats with a new pair of trousers and incidentally have a new suit for fall wear.

The prices speak for themselves. All $4.00 grades, $2.85; $6.00 grades, $3.98; $7.00 grades, $5.00; $8.50 and $12.00 grades, $6.45. Don't worry about your size, for they have them from 29 to 32 waist.

Line forms on the right—so grab your "kelly" and get down to Friedlander Bros. at 428 Ninth street northwest, in a jiffy.

DELAY IN PASSING ON IMMIGRANTS' CASES TO BE CUT

Decisions to Be Made at Ellis
Island and Exclusion Clause Modified.

By International News Service.
The rigors of the restrictive immigration laws are to be modified by the Secretary of Labor and the Commissioner of Immigration.

Long detention at the immigration stations pending decision as to admissions and division of families where some members are found unfit for admission are to be avoided wherever possible.

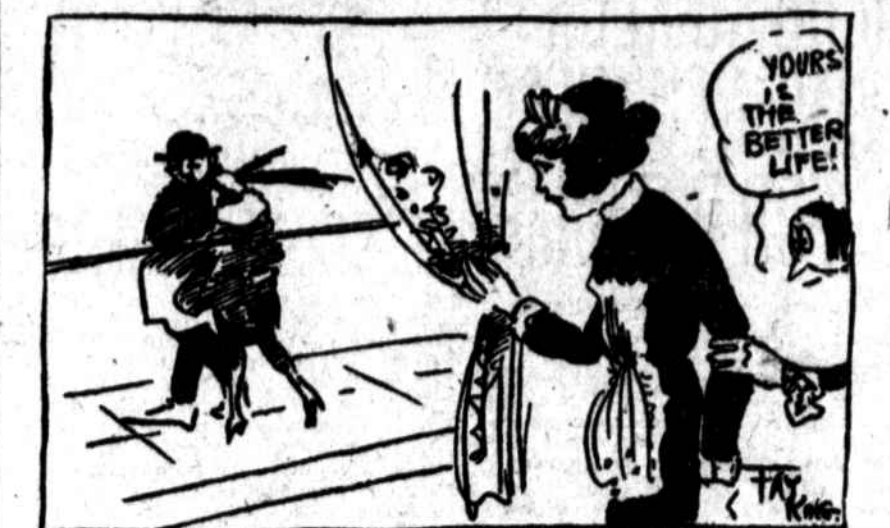

An Assistant Secretary of Labor, with powers to decide immigration questions without delay and to use discretion in matters of exclusion, is to be sent to New York to facilitate business at Ellis Island immigration station.

Pledges to that effect were made today to Congressman Siegel of New York, who held extended conferences yesterday with Secretary Davis and presented instances of heart-rending tragedies among prospective immigrants at Ellis Island because of delays in determining their status and separation of families through exclusion of some members.

The exclusion law is to be tempered with mercy in the case of family immigrants. Much hardship has been caused by the forced exclusion of some child of a family, the heads of which are pronounced eligible to enter. Care is to be taken in the future that this may be avoided wherever possible and liberal interpretation of the immigration law will be made to permit the entry of the child where the parents are admitted and reasonable grounds for belief exist that the child will not be a menace to public health.

BETTER BE HAPPY MAID THAN STRUGGLING STAR, SAYS FAY KING

Housework Better for Immigrant Than Movies and Modeling

By FAY KING.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The other day a big ocean drag docked at our shore and down the gangplank tripped a bevy of beautiful Irish colleens, who announced that they had no intentions of becoming cooks or parlor maids, but had come to try their luck at movies and modeling, and the stage.

How much better that they should become cooks or parlor maids. After all is said and done, the natural environment for the average woman is the home—and if not her own, another's. How much better installing themselves in a good family working at the honorable toil of the kitchen than taking doubtful roads among unscrupulous people who may impose upon their fresh and trusting attitude toward a life new and dangerous.

To work for a good wholesome family is the best environment an immigrant girl can seek. She has an opportunity to learn our proper ways and be protected and finally loved if she is faithful and good.

Some new rich, or fourth-classer, may be hard on a girl who works for her, sticking her off in some dark, drear corner of the house or in the attic and be slow about her pay; but she can leave such a place and sooner or later she will find her self housed and comfortable in a safe, good, clean place where her efforts are appreciated and soon she will become almost like one of the family. They will care for her when she is sick, make her little presents out of affection and be interested in her welfare, and in learning their ways and keeping their house she will develop into a fine little homemaker and learn good manners.

She will find herself in an inspiring environment, and it is a smart young man who chooses his wife from among the homemakers though she do it for a living for others. Why girls at present working in a family and prefer to stand all day in a store, subjected to the abuse and imposition of heartless customers, or consider it more worthy to vamp their way to the stage or into pictures, is much more I can see. Personally, if I had to choose, I'd much rather work for a good family sheltered away from the envy and deceit of mediocre climbers in over-run professions. I'd learn well the art of housekeeping, and finally marry the good-looking ice man, who would take me to a little home of our own with the blessing and gifts from the family I had served well. That strikes me as a much happier path in life than struggling along with a selfish, showy people, and finally marrying a film hero who will leave me in a Hollywood bungalow while he makes a fuss over Broadway belles with my photograph up on the piano.

There are good families who have actually wept when the girl who worked for them left their home for her own, and through all the years have kept track of her and her kids.

We are all servants. We either serve those we love, those we work for, or the public, I'd a lot rather serve a good wholesome family than be subjected to a soul slayer for a little "fame."

SHERILL DENIES LINCOLN DOME IS ENDANGERED

Memorial Itself Not Sinking
Into Mire, Declare Park Superintendent.

Destruction of the Lincoln Memorial building, due to its gradual sinking into its own foundation soil, did not appear so imminent today with the statement of Col. C. O. Sherrill, superintendent of parks and buildings, that "There is not now, nor has there ever been, any settlement whatever of the Lincoln Memorial building proper, its walls or its foundation."

"The only settlement that has taken place has been in the approaches to the memorial and the surrounding coping," declared Colonel Sherrill. "At the same time these were built they were placed on a reinforced concrete mat, rather than being supported by piers carried down through the great depth necessary to reach solid rock."

The Memorial building proper, Sherrill explained, is built on reinforced concrete piers extending to and below the level of the surface of the ground. At the time of constructing the approaches, tests were made of the bearing power of the soil and these tests clearly indicated an excess of bearing power for the load to be applied.

"It was realized at that time," he said, "that settlement of the approaches and coping wall would undoubtedly take place and arrangements were made by which these parts could be readily underpinned if necessary, or the upper portions of these structures could be readily reset after settlement had ceased without any detriment to the Memorial structure. The arrangement made by which underpinning could be accomplished was to leave the entire area under the approaches and coping walls open and readily accessible for underpinning operations in case that should ever be found desirable."

Robbed of $3,200 in Auto.

WATERBURY, Conn., Sept. 20.—Henry Tyrell, a collector for the Economy Grocery Company, reported to the police here today that he was robbed of $3,200 by a man who jumped on the running board of his automobile, pointed a gun at him and snatched the bag containing the money.

EX-FIRE CHIEF IN ALEXANDRIA AGAIN SEEKS JOB

Meeting Will Be Held Tonight to Press McDermott for His Old Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Sept. 20.—It is expected that at the meeting of the city council, September 27, there will be a contest over the election of a chief of the fire department for Alexandria. It is understood that the friends of Kenneth W. Ogden, who resigned as fire chief several months ago, will present his name in opposition to Chief T. J. McDermott, elected to succeed him.

Ogden resigned at a meeting of the city council when that body refused to rescind its ordinance fixing the speed limit for fire apparatus in the city to twenty-five miles an hour. When Ogden quit, over half of the fire department went out with him. The department was reorganized and McDermott was elected chief. A special meeting of the ex-members of the fire department who went out with Ogden will be held at the Friendship engine house this evening to discuss plans for having the ex-chief re-elected to head the fire department.

Albert Jernigan, of 1800 Cameron street, has his right foot badly mangled by a steel girder while at work in Washington yesterday. He was taken to the Emergency Hospital there for treatment.

A meeting of the Ad Club of Alexandria was held at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce last evening.

St. Paul's Sunday school baseball club will give a moving picture show at Norton Memorial this and tomorrow evening. The proceeds will go to help fit up a gymnasium.

A meeting of Alexandria Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, was held at their hall last evening.

Martha Washington Chapter, No. 42, Order of the Eastern Star, held a meeting at the Masonic Temple last evening.

Lewis L. Armistead and wife have bought from Thomas A. Fisher and wife three lots at the northwest corner of Washington and Oronoco streets; R. T. Lucas and wife have bought from Frank S. Lucas and wife a house and lot on the east side of Fairfax street, between Gibson and Franklin streets; W. L. Harris has bought from William B. Dulaney a house and lot on the east side of Alfred street, between Oronoco and Princess streets.

The funeral of the late E. E. Downham was held from his late home at 411 North Washington street this afternoon and was attended by every Masonic body in the city. The Rev. E. V. Regester, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, conducted the services. Burial was in the Presbyterian Cemetery.

MOTHER OF ITALIAN HERO WILL PICK UNKNOWN BODY

ROME, Sept. 20.—Italy's "unknown soldier" will be buried on the morning of October 4 at the Altar of the Fatherland, which has been erected near the monument to King Victor Emmanuel. The burial will be preceded by a great procession, and the King and government officials will participate in the ceremony.

Eleven unidentified bodies will be disinterred in the battlefields in northern Italy and solemnize the marriage of any person who has been or is the husband or the wife of any other person then living, from whom he or she has been divorced for any cause arising after marriage.

"But this canon shall not be held to apply to the innocent party in a divorce for adultery; provided that before the application for such re-marriage a period of not less than one year shall have elapsed after the granting of such divorce; and that satisfactory evidence touching the facts in the case, including a copy of the court's decree and record, is practically served, or appeared in the action, as laid before the ecclesiastical authority."

Twice Divorced.
Mrs. Lydig has been the successful applicant for two decrees of divorce. The first was from W. E. D. Stokes, whom she divorced in this State on statutory grounds. She obtained a decree from her second husband, Major Philip M. Lydig, in a French court on October 18, 1919, on the grounds of incompatibility, desertion and failure to provide.

WOMAN IN PULPIT BREAKS
TRADITIONS AT HARVARD
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 20.—Dr. Rowena Morse Mann, minister of the Third Unitarian Church in Chicago, the first woman to receive a degree from the University of Jena in Germany, has attained a new distinction. When she appeared recently in the pulpit of Appleton Chapel at Harvard University to preside to the students of the summer school she broke Harvard tradition. Never before in the nearly 30 years of the institution's history has a woman conducted chapel services.

This Leaves the Arms
Free from Hairy Growth
(Toilet Talk)

A simple method for completely removing every trace of hair or fuzz is here given. This is painless and usually a single treatment will banish even stubborn growths. To remove hairs, make a thick paste with some powdered talc and water, spread on hairy surface and after about two minutes rub off. Wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method will not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain you get talc.

Rough Deal Charged To British By War Vet

Deported by order of a British court, which convicted him of fraud, Frank Mitchell, twenty-seven, of Portland, Kan., complained on his arrival in New York that he had been given a "rough deal."

In 1914 Mitchell enlisted with the British Army. He served through three times for wounds and shell shock. He remained in the British Army for several months after the war. He was discharged from the hospital and the service in December the pension was stopped. He protested to the War Office that he was still disabled. A clerk, he said, gave him the usual pension installment for a number of weeks. The War Office caused Mitchell's indictment, alleging he obtained the money fraudulently. In court the clerk admitted the pension, saying it was "an error." Mitchell said that the English have made England no place for an American.

GRANT SEEKING WAY TO MARRY DESPITE BISHOP

Rector Believes He and Mrs.
Rita de Acosta Lydig Will Get Legal Advice.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The setback caused by Bishop Manning's stand that no Protestant Episcopal rector in this diocese may perform a marriage ceremony for the Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant and Mrs. Rita de Acosta Lydig has not deterred that couple in their determination to find a way to circumvent the difficulty.

Their friends believe that the rector and the society woman will seek legal advice in their hope to effect a marriage in their own church.

The bishop's attitude, based on canon number forty-two of the constitution and canons of the Protestant Episcopal Church, is known to Dr. Grant. But the rector of the Church of the Ascension merely said:

"I have no statement to make to the public at this time."

Rector Not Surprised.
Dr. Grant's friends say he was not surprised at the decision of his clerical superior. The question, they say, rests entirely between the rector and the bishop.

Bishop Manning, it is said, consulted one of the vestrymen of Dr. Grant's church, several of whom have said privately that they hoped Dr. Grant would be able to work out a solution of his problem.

Canon No. 42 reads as follows: "No minister, knowingly, after due inquiry, shall solemnize the marriage of any person who has been or is the husband or the wife of any other person then living, from whom he or she has been divorced for any cause arising after marriage."

"But this canon shall not be held to apply to the innocent party in a divorce for adultery; provided that before the application for such re-marriage a period of not less than one year shall have elapsed after the granting of such divorce; and that satisfactory evidence touching the facts in the case, including a copy of the court's decree and record, is practically served, or appeared in the action, as laid before the ecclesiastical authority."

And such ecclesiastical authority, having taken legal advice thereon, shall have declared in writing that in his judgment the case of the applicant conforms to the requirements of this canon; and provided, further, that it shall be within the discretion of any minister to decline to solemnize any marriage."

Members of the National Press Club and delegates from the press galleries of Congress will attend the funeral of Raymond B. Morgan, Senate correspondent, this afternoon at his home, 1749 Corcoran street northwest.

Funeral services for John R. Fusey, a retired Washington business man, who died Sunday afternoon at his home, 1211 E street northeast, will be held this afternoon. Interment will be in Congressional Cemetery.

Mr. Fusey was a native of Pennsylvania. He was eighty-three years old. About fifty-five years ago he came to Washington. He was a member of Waugh Methodist Episcopal Church for a half century.

Surviving Mr. Fusey are his two sons, Fred W. and Howard O. Fusey, and two daughters, Mrs. Fred B. Miller and Mrs. Sylvia Kline.

William B. Laub, a former employee of the Postoffice Department, died at 11:20 o'clock last night following an extended illness. He had been an invalid for the past seven years.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at his residence, 2844 Wisconsin avenue northwest. Interment was in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Laub was born in Washington seventy-seven years ago. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Barberin Laub; three daughters and one son.

AUCTIONEER OF JOBLESS TRIES PEACEFUL PLAN

Ledoux, Balked by N. Y. Police,
Continues Crusade Along
Meal Ticket Line.

By S. D. WEYER,
International News Service.
NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Balked by the police in his efforts to repeat in New York the "slave" auctions he staged in Boston, "Mr. Zero"—Urban J. Ledoux—changed his tactics from defiant aggression to peaceful penetration today.

However, his dramatic auctioning attempts, climaxed last night by riot in the streets around Bryant park, where police reserves with night sticks broke up a mob of thousands after wild battling, has brought the unemployment situation in this metropolis to all eyes. And it is because early today that an organized movement of unemployed were determined to finish what "Mr. Zero" had started.

To Ask Army Quarters.
While Ledoux began the day dispensing generous "feeds" in an uptown doughnut parlor, a committee from the unemployed was outlining plans to get relief from the city.

Their first step will be a demand for Mayor Hylan to throw open the armories to all service men who they might hold meetings and take up collections.

Meanwhile Ledoux, plainly convinced that he has started the ball rolling and that he has a good-natured, soft-spoken addresses to a good-sized crowd of jobless men in front of a doughnut dispensary, handing out tickets that served these same for a meal of beef hash and coffee and many helpings of the boys could put away.

"Now listen to me, fellows," sang out Mr. Zero's well-modulated voice, "we're going to do this thing quietly and peacefully. We're not lawbreakers or rioters. We're regular fellows, aren't we?"

"Yes, bo!" came an answering shout from a half-hundred hunger-husky throats.

As Mr. Zero spoke he handed around tickets, till a voice from within the doughnut parlor called "stop!"

After a pause the same voice would shout:

"Ten more!"

Again the tickets were handed to greedily outstretched hands. And so it went on—"Ten more, twelve more, fifteen more."

He was anxious to impress on the men that he was doing the picking at random. "No favoritism, boys," he said over and over. "I don't know you from Adam, you're all alike to me so if you get left don't think there's any malice."

Inside, signs of cheer adorned the walls, such as "some things are better left unsaid; this includes your troubles."

"Women must wage the same hard fight"

MEN sometimes think that they are alone in their struggle to keep up the lightning pace at which we live. It is not so. Women must wage the same hard fight.

Whether it is business cares, social obligations, or the exacting duties of the home, modern life is putting an ever-increasing tax on her energy. Fatigue has become woman's greatest enemy today.

"A chronically tired woman," says Dr. A. M. Galbraith, former attending physician of the Neurological Department, New York Hospital, "loses all her personal vigor, force, aggressiveness, and above all her will power. No fatigued individual can be at her best."
